

Annapurna Base Camp (ABC) Trek

Region: Annapurna | Duration: 8–13 days | Difficulty: Moderate | Max altitude: ~4,130m | Best season: Mar–May, Sep–Nov

Guide: Strongly recommended. Permit rules can vary by route; we confirm at booking.

Overview

Annapurna Base Camp (ABC) Trek is a classic trekking route in the Annapurna area. Expect a mix of mountain panoramas, village culture, and changing landscapes as you gain altitude. We design this trek with realistic walking hours, acclimatization-friendly pacing, and a safety buffer.

What's included (typical)

- Trip design + briefing (fitness check, packing support, and route selection).
- Licensed local trekking guide (English/Hindi-friendly support when possible).
- Permit assistance (TIMS / protected-area entry permits / restricted-area permits where required).
- Teahouse stays on teahouse routes OR camping logistics on remote routes (as per itinerary).
- On-trail safety protocol: daily check-ins, acclimatization monitoring, and weather awareness.
- Optional add-ons: porter support, Kathmandu/Pokhara hotel nights, airport transfers.

Quick facts

- Start/End: Usually Kathmandu (sometimes via Pokhara or regional flight/drive, depending on trek)
- Trail style: Teahouse (popular routes) or Camping (remote/high-pass routes)
- Daily walking: Typically 4–7 hours/day (can be more on pass days)
- Difficulty explained: Based on altitude + trail steepness + pass days, not only distance
- Permits: TIMS + relevant park/conservation permits; restricted-area permits if applicable
- Ideal for: Travellers who want a structured, safe, and responsible trekking experience

Highlights

- Diverse landscapes: forests, terraces, alpine valleys, and high passes.
- Gurung/Thakali culture, hot springs, and mountain sunsets.
